-Spectator Notes-

Spiers Ruskell, who incidentally became the father of a third child, Stephanie, last Saturday, is, as everyone who goes to his window in the Post Office knows, a most devoted Democrat. He placed a wee few wagers on the outcome in the election and on Wednesday, after it was all over, he was holding forth at his post draped in terrycloth. . . .cheerfully telling everyone that it was his "cryin' towel."

Trader Vic, of restaurant and various bottled goodies fame, will be in Carmel tomorrow. Dual purpose, to help along the Nielsens' Downstairs party (where 'tis said there will be hot-buttered rum) and while there, to autograph copies of his book. "Kitchen Kibitzer." The Trader sails legally under the name of Victor Bergeron.

PARKING LOT PROBLEM COMES BEFORE COUNCIL

Again the Carmel City Council and the Carmel Business Association will attempt to work out a solution to the parking problem. The meeting is scheduled for next Monday evening at 7:30 at the city hall.

It is expected that the CBA will bring to the council a plan for financing the purchase of the M.J. Murphy lot at the corner of Ocean and Junipero. The businessmen feel this lot would go far toward relieving the growing parking problem.

Previously, the council turned down a proposal whereby the city would finance the purchase the lot. Council members said they felt it was primarily a business district problem, not involving the whole town. They indicated they felt that though all the town would benefit indirectly, the business area would get direct benefit so the latter should shoulder the financial responsibility.

Probably the CBA will offer a plan for the establishment of an assessment district to handle the purchase of the lot. The price of the lot has been set at $114,000. It is possible that the Ocean avenue frontage will be sold off to a private party, leaving the rest of the area for a parking lot - which would cost in the neighborhood of $70,000. according to one estimate.

CARMEL LIKES IKE EVEN MORE THAN REST OF U.S.

After the BIG DAY, things are beginning to settle down in Carmel. The Peninsula gave Eisenhower a strong backing - much higher percentagewise than the nation as a whole.

Despite the Republican landslide, Congressman Ernest K. Bramblett won the closest of victories over Will Hayes, his Democratic opponent. As we go to press, only 600 votes separate the two with only a very few ballots left to be tallied.

The other partisan jobs went to the GOP, Knowland running virtually unopposed, easily retained his U.S. Seante seat-State Senator Fred Weybret retained his position running against James E. Arnett.

In the non-partisan contests, Andy Jacobsen won a hard-fought contest to retain his seat on the Board of Supervisors against David Gill. And Ray Baugh was named to the bench of the new Municipal Court in a close contest with Shelburn Robison.

Of the welter of propositions, only one will make itself felt here - Proposition 2. This increases state apportionment to the schools on the basis of average daily attendance. It will bring at least $25,000 per year to the Carmel School District—

CHEST DRIVE EQUAL TO LAST YEAR – SO FAR

With the Community Chest drive nearing its close, collections in Carmel are about what they were a year ago at this time. Of the $27,000 needed, already $19,500 has been turned in.

The Carmel City Council has urged, by proclamation, that contributions be turned in as promptly as possible to insure the success of the campaign.

At present, Lloyd Reahm, manager of Sprouse-Reitz, is top captain in the business district - having turned in about $725. His team includes Barney Segal, Mark Thomas, Gladys Johnston and himself.

Right behind Reahm's team is that of Ernest Morehouse, which includes Andy Martin, Blair Kirby, Clive Rayne, John Geisen and Jimmy Griffin.

RECREATION DIRECTOR URGED BY COMMISSION

The Carmel Recreation Commission will ask the School Board to consider the hiring of a recreation director when next year the budget is drafted. This is the primary result of a meeting of the commission last week.

The group went over the recreation survey of Carmel made by state representatives. The appointing of a recreation director was one of its main suggestions.

NO PLANS FOR BUILDING AT DOLORES AND FIFTH

Frederick Hofsas has no definite plans as yet for the development of the corn er of Dolores and 5th, across from the Post Office. The two houses that were there have been moved by Bob G eary to lots on Ocean avenue just beyond the city limits.

Hofsas said that he may build an office or store building on the corner, but so far he has made no decision.

The two houses will be completely renovated by Geary and placed on landscaped lots. They were moved alo ng the truck route to their new locations.

CARMEL HONOR STUDENTS

Basil I. Allaire and Michael A. Monahan of Carmel have both been named to the President's Honor Roll at Santa Clara University. Both have maintained better than a B plus average in their courses.

PTA INVITES PARENTS TO CARMEL HIGH SCHOOL

All parents of Car mel High School students are cordially invited to attend an informative evening meeting on Wednesday, November 19th, at the High School. Sponsored by the Parent-Teachers' Association, the get-together is designed to show parents how their children are being taught and what they are learning. Attendance of parents will indicate a direct expression of interest in the education of their children.

Beginning promptly at 7:15 p.m. from the school auditorium, a tour will be made of classrooms where teachers will be in attendance and will explain the subjects being taught. Refreshments will be served at 9:15 p.m.

THE NOTED Greek Pianist Gina Bachauer, will play here tomorrow night in the first of the Carmel Music Society winter concerts. Miss Bachauer, who has received wide critical acclaim, will offer a program including Brahms, Bach, Chopin, Haydn and Liszt. The concert will be at Sunset Auditorium at 8:30 p.m.

USO MUSICAL SERIES

The Monterey Peninsula USO announces that their Musicales, for the fall and winter seasons will start on Sunday afternoon, November 9th, at 3:30 o'clock. These programs are open to both civilian and military personnel and the rynning time will be approximately one hour.

For the opening program, Walter Urben, pianist, will appear. He presented two concerts last season and was warmly received by the audiences. Mr. Urben graduated from the Conservatory of Music at the College of the Pacific in Stockton, also the University of Illinois, where he received his Master, of Music Degree. After spending one semester on the staff of the Louisiana State University, he continued his studies with Carl Freidberg in New York City.

On the same program will be Joanne Knox, coloratura, who in private life is Mrs. Walter Urben. Miss Knox is from the New York studio of Salon Alberti and has specialized in opera and concert. She worked with the Euterpeans Opera Group and the University of Kansas Players. In the concert field, she has appeared before club and church groups in New York, Kansas City and San Francisco.

Donald Carroll, a clarinetist, will also appear on the program. He attended the Los Angeles Conservatory of Music and Arts, and Los Angeles State College. He participated in several Chamber Muisc Recitals, sponsored by the conservatory.

The program will include Bach, Brahms and Chopin selections by Urben, four solos by Miss Knox, and Listz, De Falla and Brahms selections by Carroll.

Future concerts planned by the USO include a dual program on November 16 by Cynthia Hooten, violinist and Dorothy Hutchings, pianist. On November 23, Merle Puffer, tenor, Diana Puffer, soprano and Leonard Kline, pianist, will offer a musical afternoon.

COUNTY SYMPHONY PLAYS HERE NEXT THURSDAY

Clifford Anderson will lead the Monterey County Symphony in their first program of the new season next Thursday evening at Sunset Auditorium. Soloist will be baritone Mackey Swan who will sing three selections: an aria from Verdi's La Traviata, Handel's Largo, and an aria from the opera Andrea Cehnier. The orchestral selections will include Handel's Prelude and Fugue in D Minor, a selection from a Grieg Suite, Ravel's Mother Goose Suite, and as the major work, a recently discovered symphony by Georges Bizet.

Mr. Swan is a one-time student of the great soprano Amelita Galli-Curci as well as having been her teaching assistant later.

This concert is the first of four which Mr. Anderson and Lorell McCann will conduct alternately.

Winter Tours and Cruises

is always popular. Hospitable winter area. In this interesting and varied nation to the south, one can find the perfect winter retreat. Be it swimming and sun bathing on the beach, sportive deep-sea fishing, or an exciting stay in Mexico City, Mexico offers all to everyone seeking winter haven.

THE CARIBBEAN
storied lands below the equator. Gay Havana, with a stop enroute at New Orleans, if you choose. Trinidad, the land of the calypso. Wonderful bathing in the sparkling waters of the Caribbean and lazy lounging in the southern sun. . . and shopping tours in the countries where silver is inexpensive and British goods abundant. From island to island —Jamaica, Cuba — and trips to Venezuela, Ciudad Trujillo — where pirates and bucaneers once roamed the sugar-white cities.

MEDITERRANEAN
The sunny lands around the incredibly beautiful Mediterranean are perfect for visiting now. . .Ital, land of history, mountainous beauty. and Latin charm. Switzerland, quaint sister to the United States, where painted chalets, and glacial lakes show beauty to the eye. . .France, the southern jewel of Europe's culture, with Paris' wonders and gaiety. Capital of Europe. Spain, whose ancient towns are alive with romance and excitement.

HAWAII
probably the most popular winter resort, this sunny land is famous for its beaches and its leisurely living. 4½ days by ship or 10 hours by air, it's the land where sunshine is the order of all days. From $500 to $1,000 per person for a full three weeks, depending on whether you want it simple or luxurious.

SOUTH AMERICA
blue skies, bluer water, the snow capped young mountains of South America, the colorful Spanish and Indian cultures of her countries, the cosmopolitan gaiety of her cities. . .from the Land of the Incas to Lima, "The City of Kings," from the Andes to the beaches of Buenos Aires, from the Chilean Lakes to the bustle of the Panama Canal —South America is a glorious adventure amid scenic beauty.

AFRICA
The Safari wonderland. A land of romance and mystery, whose very names. . . Capetown, Durban, Zululand, the Congo, Rhodesia, Kenya, Tanganyika. . .were only a short time ago inaccessible to the casual traveler. Now Africa is an open and exciting travel experience. Tropical beaches, native life, modern cities, and game reserves that are the homes of exotic animals. . .all are available to the tourist with ease and comfort. Egypt, ancient heart of Western civilization, the crossroads of the world, is easily included.

800 CHILDREN ATTEND KIWANIS HALLOWE'EN PARTY

A happy throng of over 800 children attended the Kiwanis' Club's annual Hallowe'en party last Friday at Sunset School playground. Over $500 worth of prizes were awarded with each child receiving a prize.

Costumes were judged by Mrs. Malcolm Foster, the Rev. Alfred B. Seccombe, and Paul Mc Kinstry, who chose Carolyn Burdie, 10, as the winner of the $25 Defense Bond for the best costume. Carolyn, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Walter Burdie, came as a tie rack covered with a wild assortment of ties. Runners-up were awarded dinners for themselves and their parents at one of the cooperating restaurants - La Playa, Whitney's, Hearthstone, Sade's, Pine Inn, Nikko's and the Village Corner.

Among these runners-up were Joe and Peter Foster, 7 and 9, children of the Malcolm Fosters, who came as a blood plasma team, Helen and Lee Dowdy, who came as a pair of clothes posts with a well-decorated line between them, Sharon, Barbara and Darlene Zarp, aged 11, 8 and 3, came as three devils and they were accompanied by their dog also disguided as a devil.

Other winners were Kreigh Trevvett as Raggedy Ann, Meredith Burdie as Miss Valentine, Roger Ellis as a television set, Connie Jean Wermuth as a lady-in-waiting, and Betsy Seccombe as a mailbox.

There were many wounded soldiers, knights, cowboys, cowgirls, Indians, gypsies, and hoboes as well.

Police Chief Clyde Klaumann commented that this Hallowe'en marked one of the quietest in his 17 year's experience in police work and that the children were unusually cooperative.

the MASON'S have a "notion" that you can use a lot of little notions that we have. On our notion table, for instance, are a couple of hundred different items ranging from pajama strings to short hat pins.

Plus that — more than 120 different colors in thread — — and a pretty good selection of rickrack, bias tape, seam binding, rug binding, etc. Also drapery rings in 25 different sizes.

Which also reminds me that Margaret just finished re-arranging the buttons so that we think you'll be able to find what you want more quickly.

Just received a new shipment of Pleatmaster tape and Pleatmaster hooks which enable you to make your own drapes so much more easily.

All of this is to say that, while we can't be all things to all people - -the store just isn't big enough- - we do want to take care of just as many of your needs as possible.

Margaret and I have been so busy writing orders for new and different items throughout the store that I almost didn't get this ad to the paper on time.

We appreciate your having dropped in — — and we'd like to suggest that you keep coming in, if only to pass the time of day. Could be, too, that you'll see something that you want (like those wonderful new scarves and stoles that just came in, for example.)

As you know, the Mason's (formerly Balzer's Dept. Store) are on the east side of Dolores between Fifth and Sixth. Telephone Carmel 7-3836.

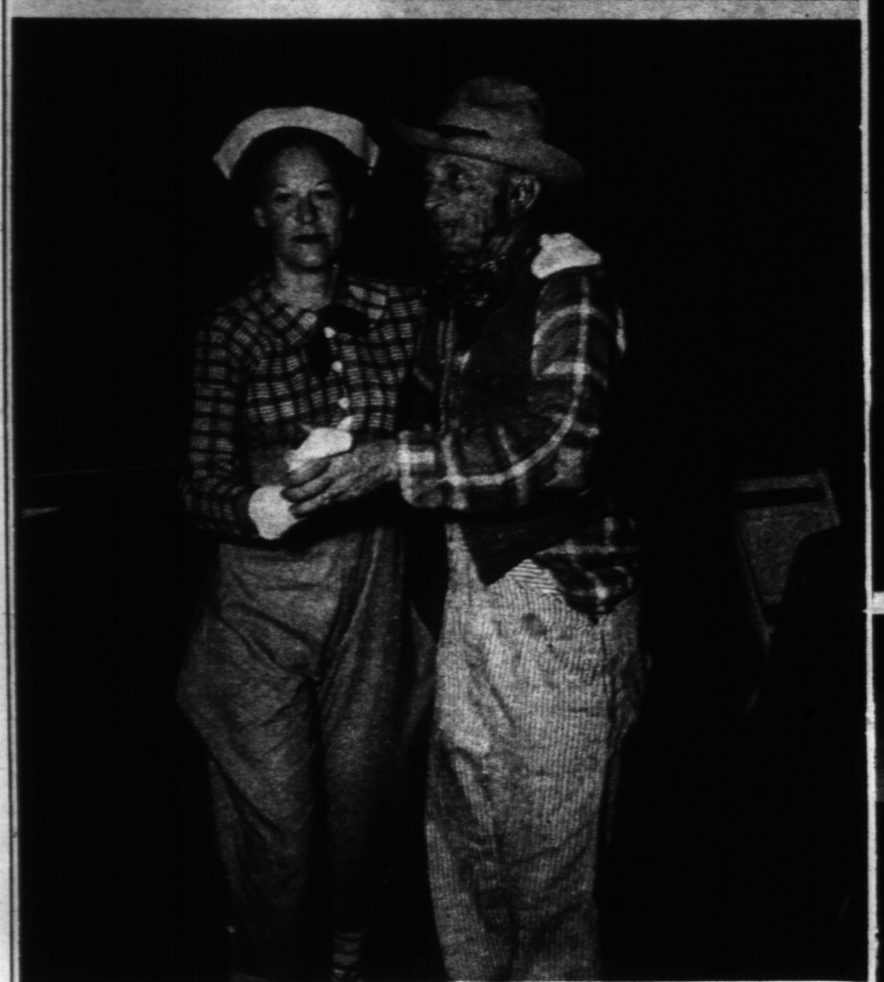
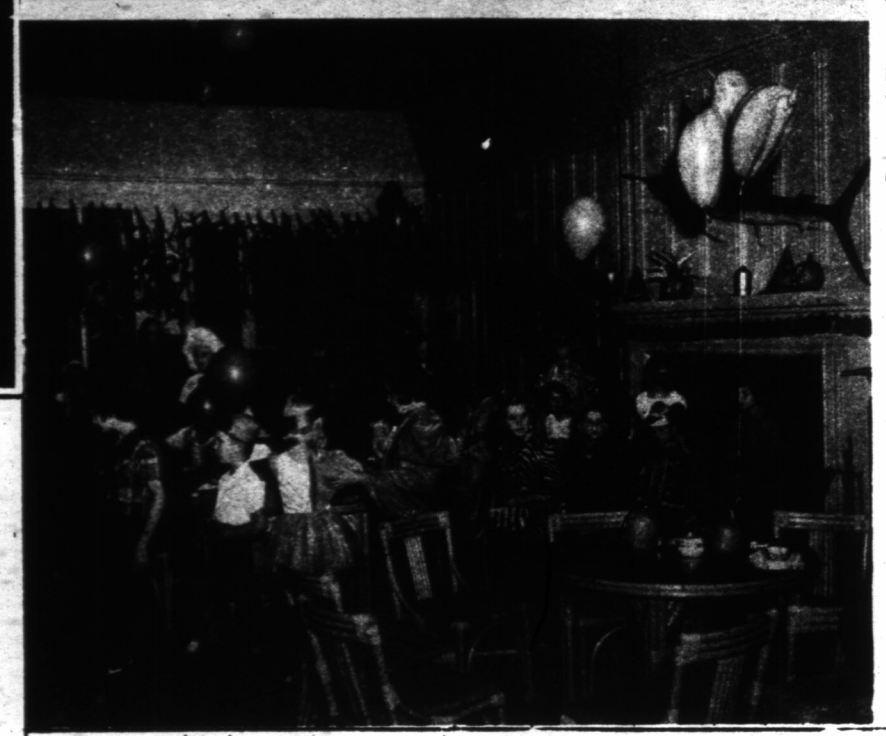
WELL-HAUNTED PENINSULA HALLOWE'EN





Bizarre, attractive, winsome, and terrifying, the Spooks were very much abroad on Hallowe'en. Especially gala celebrations for the small fry were held at the Beach Club in Pebble Beach, and at the Kiwanis sponsored Hallowe'en party at Sunset School. Adults disported both at the Beach Club and at Nepenthe, in Big Sur country.

Bottom: Children lined up for traditional Hallowe'en refreshment,

--Julian P. Graham photos.

At immediate right: Paul Mc Kinstry is obviously stunned with Miss Valentine, Meredith Burde, whose costume was made entirely of over-sized Valentine, at the Sunset party.

Ambled over to Bob's Restaurant Tuesday for lunch and noticed a new sign "Left Ham Sandwich, 40¢ . . . Right Ham Sandwich, 30¢."

"Why the sign, Bob?" I asked. "Don't tell me you believe hogs scratch more with their right leg than with their left—so's the left ham is more tender?"

"No," he says. "I don't take any stock in it. But, some people have ordered those 'left' sandwiches. When I explain to them that there's nothing to that fable, that the sign is just a business-getter, and I've only one price, they enjoy a regular, old fashioned, plain ham sandwich all the more!"

From where I sit, stories like "right" hams being tougher than "left" ones are with us because some people get ideas into their head and hang onto them for dear life. It's like those who think an adult like myself hasn't the right to a glass of beer with my supper. I say let's keep our opinions free from being "sandwiched-in" by misinformation.

Carmel Valley Sun Spots

by PARKER KIMBALL

The Tularcitos School Board believes it will have a winning bid this time on the purchase of the old Tularc itos School building and property. . .says several anonymous purchasers have made inquiries since the last board meeting. . .bids a-gain will be opened at the next board meeting on Tuesday night at 8 p.m. at the new school. Remember, the basic figure is $12,500, with a $ 1,000 down payment. . .oral budding, which may supercede written bids, must begin %5 higher than the highest sealed bid. . .weather holding, the new s chool will be finished on time, Dec. 24th. Framing and roofing are well underway already. . .and. . . huzzah for the $185,000,000 bond issue voted this election, for school construction, it may be hoped this fund will be spent more wisely than in the past. . on many low cost, functional school buildings instead of a few palatial palaces of elementary education. . .

The Monterey County Grand Jury will be asked to explore details and background of Plan A, the Valley road realignment recently opposed by a large segment of Valley residents. This is the latest maneuver in the A & B Plan controversy and part of the organized resistance to Plan A which is tentatively approved by theMonterey County Planning Commission. This united opposition is starting with the Tularcitos School Board which does not want the road bordering the school property by less than a city blo ck. Foreman James Pettit of the Grand Jury has be en officially petitioned by letter to conduct the investigation.

Also backing the School Board faction is Capt. Gerald Page, captain of the Monterey County Division of the Calif. State Highway Patrol, who strongly objects to schools which border busy highways. This week, Mrs. Jeanette Ayers, School Board secretary, stated that letters have been written to State Congressman Fred Weybret and Assembly man James Silliman urging their investigation of the matte r. County District Attorney Byrr Scott, part of whose job is to give free legal counsel to the school board, and who is also a member of the Planning Commission which is thought to be consid. ering adoption of Modified Plan A, will apparently have to disqualify himself on one or the other scores. More weigh t is expected to come from the direction of Stuart Mitc hell and Glenn T. Goodwill, Carmel and Monterey school superintendents, respectively.

Voting results in the three Upper Valley precincts showed a nice adherence to the national trends. In the presidential race, Eisenhower - 367, Stevenson - 105, McArthur- 3, and Hallinan - 1. Knowland received 443 votes to 22 for Borough, and Bramblett led Will Hayes by 390 to 171. For the State Senate, Weybret polled 350, a three-to-one lea d over Arnett with 116. Fred Farr also received a write-in vote for this office. Assemblyman James Silliman got 425 votes to a lonely 1 written in for A-J. Williams. Closest race for Valley voters was for Co unty Supervisor, where Andy Jacobsen edged out David Gill by 236 to 229.

Seth Ulman, the handsome, white-haired Highlands resident is a localite whose roots go back to the very beginning of Carmel. He remembers when the city was unincorporated, when he planted the Ocean avenue pine trees and when Carmel had board walks.

Born in Lynne, Massachusetts, Ulman attended Exeter a classmate of Col e Porter's and Henry Morganthau, Jr.

He married Madelaine Powers, whose father was a partner in the Carmel Development Company. It was thi s organization that first re alized the possibilities of Carmel, and devoted itself to its promotion. In this heyday of land development, great crowds of prospects were brought to the village, hoteled, wined and dined, and converted to the proposition that Carmel wa s indeed the best of all places to live...! and own property. The company owned Pine Inn and the Highlands Inn, and used these as bases for prospect forays.

Growing restless in 1917, Ulman went into the paper box manufacturing business – a far cry from real estate, and an experiment which he cheerfully admits could have been more successful. From this he jumped into the founding of a trucking concern in Fresno, and then into real estate in San Francisco, It was during this period that he developed Rio del Mar, a project th at included 5,500 acres of land; some 35 miles of road and pipe.

In 1926, following a divorce, Seth went to Seattle, a far distance from the Pen insula, to help banks there dispose of property which they were left holding on defaulted mortgages. He there became expert in the art of exchanging or tradi ng real estate properties.

His next move wa s made through a cloudy cry stal ball, the buying and development of the Victorina Ranch (now Yankee Point acres.) An area of some 1189 acres. Seth bought and improved the property. . . and was ready to begin selling parcels when Black Friday of 1929 rendered the whole project a little untenable. He picked up then and headed toward San Francisco, doing various promotional work. Stopping in Los Gatos one day, he ran into Kitty Cook, a luminary of Carmel's early development, and the two went into real estate work there...a job that consisted primarily of d isposing of large estates there...Among other things, he traded one for a Safeway store. It was a time when a grocery was more pertinent than a mansion to some.

The first deviation from real estate came during the war, when Seth found that he was over-age for military service, and entered a shipyard to work directly on the war effort. He stayed there until 6 months after the war's end, when he came back to Carmel. He has, since then, been occupied with his Highlands business which deals with Highlands real estate, the lands south of the river, and the Aguajito tract. He was the agent who handled the sale of Rocky Point.

In 1944, Ullman remarried. A native of Fresno, Mrs. Ulman is the former Rose Donn et. Together, the two took a long Eastern trip this Spring. . one whose high spots were gourmet expeditions among the best in Eastern food. A trek of some 12,000 miles, it was for the Ulmans a gala vac ation, swinging through the eas tern seaboard, down to Flo rida, and back to the coast through the south and southwestern states.

There are 3 Ulman children, Lollie Fassett of Ne penthe fame, Seth Powers Ulm an, a student of the U of C, and Mrs. Howard McGurrin.

A godfather to mod ern Carmel, Seth is a n entertaining source of early days memories . . .A humorful fellow, with a relaxed and open view toward life, he can offer anyone interested the best of listening about early, middle and later Carmel. He's an ide al person to hear them from. . .since he's as firmly and appropriately rooted here as the cypress trees he planted along the ocean. . . a real founding father.

GOLDEN GATE CAT SHOW NOVEMBER 29

Carmel cat fanciers were reminded today that Monday, November 10, will be the deadline for entries in the sixth annual all-breed cat show of the Golden Gate Cat Club. A major event in feline society west of the Mississippi, the show will be held in Oakland Auditorium on November 29 and 30.

Three specialty shows -- the Western Tabby and Tortie Specialty, the Northwestern Siamese Breeders Specialty and the Solid Color Club of the West Specialty --will take place in conjunction with this year's all-breed event.

Peninsulans interested in entering their pets in the show are asked to communicate with Mrs. Dorothy Denning at Box 83, Castro Valley. Information can also be octained by telephoning Mrs. Veda Holt en, at Glencourt 1-5184, Mrs. Marion Beller at Sweetwood 8-7860, or Mrs. Isabel Meader at Lucerne 2-0565.

THE ATTRACTIVE couple shown above were married last Saturday at Carmel Mission. The bride was Miss Patricia Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Green of Oakland, and the bride groom is Donald C. Cummings, Jr., member of a prominent Peninsula family. The bride was graduated from Diablo High School in Concord and attended the University of California. She was a stewardess for United Air Lines prior to her wedding. The bridegroom is a graduate of Monterey Union High School and the University of Santa Clara. Officiating at the ceremony was Don's uncle, the Reverend Louis Rudolph, S.J. of Fresno, and his young cousin, David Rudolph served as altar boy. The young couple will honeymoon in Hawaii, after which Don will report to Moody Air Force Base in Georgia for training.

GARDENING FOR HEALTH AND HAPPINESS

By CHARLES W. DELANEY

Plants and shrubs are beginning to show the effect of Fall and the result of cooler nights and lack of water.

Most annual plants have completed their life cycle. It is time to pull them out and put them on the compost pile or bury them in the garden beds. Any vacant spots should be spaded deeply and left in the rough so that the sun may purify the soil. When the rains come, the water will be absorbed. Spading in leaves and litter that is not too coarse is very valuable for soil fertility. Any kind of manure may be spaded in and, if chicken droppings are used, add a little dehyrated lime.

BEGONIAS:

Most begonias, that is the tuberous variety, have passed their perfection. Now is the time to withold watering. If they have been grown in pots, lay the pots on their sides until the stalks have dropped off. Never break or cut off stalk. If you do, you will have inferior bulbs next year. After the stalks or tops have fallen off, the bulbs may be taken out. Wash the dirt from the roots and dry the bulbs in full sun for a few days. Then store in a cool, dry place - never near a furnace.

Do not rub off the fine hairy roots after washing and, before placing in storage, dust with Botano - DeLux or Sulphur. This will prevent any infection during the rest period.

You can make your tuberous begonias bloom almost to Christmas. This exhausts the bulbs, however, and you will have poor flowers next year.

FUSCHIAS:

Do not prune your fuschias until next Spring. Water them moderately and do not force feed them now. Pick off all seed pods and yellow leaves. If the weather continues mild, you will have some blossoms quite late.

It is wise to clean up the floor of the garden - all leaves, flower petals and weeds are put on compost or buried. With the clean floor, the few remaining flowers will appear more attractive.

SNAPDRAGONS:

If these plants are cut back two thirds, they may carry over the winter and give a nice showing in Spring. Ho wever, new plants from the nur sery will give better results.

There is still plenty of time to plant new perennials, bulbs, hardy annuals and shrubs. The bare-rooted roses will soon be on the market. Get them into the soil early so the plant can get a good start in the warm days of Spring.
